Project Description

We are looking for someone who can identify the tools language instructors are showcasing on our staff development days, group them into categories, then do information sheets that compare the feature sets and highlight the comparative advantages of them.

Desired Skills Interests

Skill
Research
Infographic design graphic design writing/marketing foreign language

Additional Information

We are looking for someone who is interested in technology and has a natural curiosity to explore the tools used for language teaching. Experience learning a language or teaching ESL or foreign language is a definite benefit. We need someone who can create short (1-2 page) explainer sheets in clear language and lay them out in an engaging "marketing" style designed to educate and encourage teachers to try the materials. You will need to create your own accounts to try the free software tools or trial versions. You must have your own graphics and layout software (e.g., Photoshop and/or InDesign); we will not be able to provide software to you.
